 Common European Framework of Reference for Languages

Communication skills

- Strong commitment for team work which I acquired through participating various levels of team sports, active volunteerwork for various organizations and team-oriented work in various jobs,
- Good sense of interpersonal communications and teaching skills which I first acquired as a young tennis teacher and later further developed as clinical research assistant and manager in various positions,
- Excellent ability to adapt to an international working environment. I have travelled and lived abroad for extended periods of time and do not have any problems communicating in a variety of languages. I grew up in a multicultural and international family environment,
- Strong respect for authority.

Organisational / managerial skills

- Excellent organizer, capable of developing and managing teams. A skill obtained and refined through managerial experience in a multi-cultural environment and working in multi-national teams, in addition to formal training in Project Management (Management Centre Europe, Belgium),
- Scientific, clinical and market research skills obtained through work as a clinical researcher at the VUB and as marketing manager for Fotona regulation
- Clinical trials and regulation for medical devices; FDA and CE regulation. Formal training by Management Forum , UK (2003)
- Formal training in Market Research and Analysis by Frost and Sullivan, UK (2004)

Job-related skills

- Work and experience at Fotona provided strong understanding and insight into light-based technologies in aesthetics and dermatology, medicine and dentistry. Insight into other complementary or competitive technologies and understanding of aesthetic, medical and dentistry markets, particularly emerging technologies.
- Training and experience as physiotherapist has provided the medical knowledge and background to understand issues and concepts in a wide variety of medical fields. Experience in medical and clinical research helps to find the right information when new concepts need to be learned and skills acquired. Medical background helps understand the various needs of potential customers in the medical devices markets and assists in effectively and efficiently communicating with customers on an appropriate level.

Computer skills

- Good command of Microsoft Office™ tools
- Experience in using graphical design programs (GIMP, Inkscape)
- Command in statistical package SPSS for research purposes.
